Cannabis sativa contains several unique types of phytocannabinoids; while there are not different types of CBD, there are a variety of cannabinoids. Phytocannabinoids are typically separated into subclasses that include their cannabinoid form and their 2-carboxylic acid form, while others are standalone compounds, and each one has a unique effect. It is one of the primary ingredients in raw cannabis, and like many other of the acidic cannabioloids, Highline Wellness CBD testimonials it contains anti-inflammatory properties. It may also be useful for reducing spasms and cell proliferation. It is an essential acidic cannabinoid because it ultimately converts into the other main cannabinoids, including CBG. And similarly to THCA, it also contributes to cannabis' anti-inflammatory characteristics. THCA. And it also plays a role in the anti-inflammatory attributes associated with cannabis. THCA. When THCA becomes oxidized, it turns into CBNA. Research lists CBC as useful for pain relief, inflammation, cellular proliferation, and bone growth. 's only available in particular strains of cannabis.

CBD. Much of its usefulness is unknown because research is still in the beginning stages, but recent studies indicate CBDV may have benefits towards managing epilepsy. When a cannabis plant grows and matures, it goes through a process of decarboxylation from all the sunlight and oxidation. And through this procedure, the acidic cannabinoids convert into the highly recognizable and researched cannabinoids that we all hear and read about along with CBD. THC is typically helpful as a mild painkiller and may contain antioxidant features. THC and when CBNA becomes exposed to prolonged heat or sunlight. Raw cannabis will create more CBN as it further matures at the cost of THC. CBN acts as a mild psychoactive with sedative effects. CBGA during decarboxylation. Research suggests that CBG contains antibacterial properties and is useful for bacterial growth, cell proliferation, bone growth, and inflammation.

Stephen Ryan is the Chief Marketing Officer at Infinite CBD, where he is responsible for researching, planning, outlining and implementing all of the business marketing ideas and campaigns. Before Infinite CBD, Stephen finished getting his college education about graphic and web design from the Art Institute of California, and began working as a graphic designer within the cannabis industry. While working as a designer he worked with many high profile brands within the industry such as: Cheeba Chews, Green Dot, Head of Honey, Kind Love and many more. Stephen had no aspirations to become an entrepreneur himself, but when he saw Infinite CBD being created and the incredible potential it has, he was quick to make sure he secured his position as a founder of the company; contributing all branding, web and marketing experience to the company. He contributes this decision to many of the positive changes in his life that have happened since the beginning of Infinite CBD.

“Nothing really gave me the drive and motivation to make such massive changes in my life both personally and professionally like being a business owner does. The potential is literally unlimited. Outside of work, Stephen likes to play with his French Bulldog, Charlie, stay active with running, trade stocks and, of course, lay around doing nothing but binging 6 hours of Netflix in a single sitting. Where did the idea for Infinite CBD come from? Infinite CBD, the original idea, actually came from our CEO John Ramsay. We had come across CBD through researching the cannabis market and John decided to see if he could help out his friend who cannot use Cannabis, due to his job, to test the effects of CBD without THC. That friend came back the next day saying it was the most pain free he had felt in 20 years. This is when we knew we had something on our hands and when we turned around we had built Infinite Highline Wellness CBD testimonials.
